Inquiry into recycling in Wales
Response from: Helen Meakins

I have recently read about recycling proposals in Wales and would like to say that I fully support the co-mingling system as operated by the Vale of Glamorgan. The Vale previously operated a separation system which was cumbersome and time consuming from a customer's point of view and I feel that a return to this would discourage my current level of recycling. The storage of additional boxes and bags would also cause a problem in my home and I suspect many other homes.
