Inquiry into recycling in Wales
Response from: Olwen Davies

I would like to say that I think the Vale of Glamorgans' co-mingling system works very well. We started with sorting for ourselves and that takes up a great deal of space within the home environment. My household has the space, but few do.

Also have you tried to walk along the streets of Bridgend, on bin day. I give this as an example. So many different items that they clog up the footpath.

The delay to traffic behind the sorting bin lorry is often horrendous, as it takes so long for the men to carry out the sorting.

Therefore I submit that it is better to have a co-mingling system.
